NEW RAILROAD FOR GREENSBORO

To Connect With S. A. L. at Manson.

Company Will Be Organized At Once to Make Survey and Interest Capital—Would Be Fifty Five Miles In Length and Would Pass Through Stretch of Fine Territory At Present Not Reached by any Railroad.

There is a strong probability that in the near future Greensboro will have another railroad, a connecting link with the Seaboard Aire Line.

The proposed road would be about 55 miles in length and would traverse territory that is not at present reached by any line of road. In view of this fact the proposition would without a doubt be a paying one and those who are promoting the project feel safe in saying that the road will surely be built. The territory through which the road would pass is full of fine timber lands and the country is undeveloped, owing to its inaccessibility. With a railroad convenient the property would increase at least three fold in value within a short time.

A gentleman who has had considerable experience as a railroad surveyor, having made successful surveys for several roads, including the Southern, was in conversation with a number of gentlemen yesterday regarding the project and all approached seemed of the opinion that the proposed road would mean much for Greensboro. So strong was the opinion of several that they stated they would be willing to become a member of a company and furnish capital to have a survey of the proposed road made. A prominent citizen of the city, who is much interested in Greensboro's continued growth, consented to undertake to organize and finance a company for the purpose of surveying the road and the organization will be completed within about 10 days or two weeks and the survey will doubtless be made within the next six months. A rough estimate of the cost of constructing the road is between $600,000 and $750,000.

The proposed road would cross northeastern Guilford, the northwest corner of Alamance, the southwest corner of Caswell, go almost directly across Person to Roxboro. A line has already been built from Manson to Townsville, Vance county, and will be extended to Roxboro, across Granville and the remaining half of Person. At Manson it connects with the Seaboard.

If the road is built it would give Greensboro a straight line to the Seaboard Air Line and over its lines, easy access to Norfolk, a seaport town. The additional facilities would mean much for Greensboro and it is believed by the promoters that Greensboro citizens will be glad to join in the proposition to secure the additional facilities it would afford.

QUARTERLY MEETING PHILATHEA UNION

Session Last Evening At First Baptist Church Was One of Helpfulness and Inspiration—Good Work Being Done—Social Program.

The City Philathea Union held its regular quarterly meeting at the First Baptist church last night. The First Baptist Philatheas were delightful hostesses and everyone present considered themselves fortunate to be their guests. A business session was first held, Miss Vallie Sanders, president presiding. A large number of the classses of the city were represented, and reports of the class work were given, which showed that the Greensboro classes are wide-awake and leaders in the great Philathea organization. Much enthusiasm was manifested and fresh inspiration for renewed activities gained. The following classes were represented: Methodist Protestant, West Market M. E. (Wheeler and First Philathea), Reformed, First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Friends, The Philatheas especially enjoyed a report of the Oxford, N. C., M. E. class given by Miss Hettie Lyon, who is visiting friends here.

The excellent program which followed the business meeting consisted of a violin solo by Miss Phyllis Woodall, vocal solos by Miss Gonzales Byrne, piano solo by Miss May Creech and readings by Miss Guelda Elliott, all of which were well rendered and happily received.

Every feature of the evening was enjoyable and profitable, and it is hoped that all the Philatheas of Greensboro will ally themselves with the city union, both giving and getting the help which comes from keeping in touch with classes of all churches.

SURPRISE MARRIAGES.

Two Couples United Sunday Afternoon At Home of Mr. J. T. Price, Near Reidsville.

A marriage which comes as a surprise to many friends of the two couples took place at the home of Mr. J. T. Price near Reidsville Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. The two couples were Miss Brona Price and Mr. Fred De Grotte, Miss Mollie Sue Wells and Mr. John L. Lowe. Rev. C. M. Raper officiated.

The Price home had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with running cedar and ferns.

The bridal party entered the west parlor, where an improvised altar had been made, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Esther Lowe at the piano. They were met at the altar by Rev. Raper and while the marriage vows were being spoken Miss Lowe rendered in subdued tones Schubert's "Serenade." The brides were dressed in traveling suits. Miss Wells wore a tailored suit of blue basket weave with hat and gloves to match and carried a bouquet of Bride roses, while Miss Price wore a brown tailored suit of serge with hat and gloves to match and carried a bouquet of Bride roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests were ushered into the dining room where the most delightful scene awaited them. The decorations here were no less beautiful than in the other rooms. A most delicious three course dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. De Grotte left for their future home in Reidsville while Mr. and Mrs. Lowe left for Greensboro where they will reside.

Mrs. De Grotte is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Price and has scores of friends who will learn of her marriage with much surprise. Mr. De Grotte is a very successful merchant of Reidsville. Mrs. Lowe is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wells, of Alexandria, Va. She has a large number of friends in this city where she lived before going to Alexandria. Mr. Lowe holds a responsible position with the Southern Express Co. in this city.

Was Quite Disorderly.

Deputy Sheriff McGee Sunday arrested Vance Pare, of Pomona, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was given a hearing yesterday before Justice Collins, judgment being suspended on payment of costs. Pare caused no little disturbance Sunday in the mill village and the officer was compelled to take him into custody.

Noon Wedding.

Yesterday at noon Justice D. H. Collins officiated at the marriage of Mr. Walter Coble and Miss Annie Reece. The young people came in from the country and soon after the ceremony was performed returned home.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES SUNDAY

In All of The City Churches.

Despite Unfavorable Weather the Services At Each Church Were Well Attended—The Sermons Were Full of Power and Visiting Ministers Were Heard With Interest—Wher the Ministers Preached and Their Texts.

In the city churches Sunday morning each pulpit was filled by a minister from a sister church, none of the congregations knowing what minister was to preach for them until he actually arrived at the church, Despite the unfavorable weather large congregations were present and the sermons were greatly enjoyed. In fact, it was a happy thought of the Ministers' Association in arranging this exchange and the several congregations would be delighted for another such arrangement to be made in the future.

At the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Rev. E. K. McLarty, pastor of West Market Street Methodist church, preached a helpful sermon on "Soul Winning." The sermon was in the nature of an argument for personal work. Nobody, the preacher said, could do personal work unless he had had an experience, but upon all who had had an experience the duty to testify for Christ was absolutely binding.

Each minister preached along evangelistic lines Sunday morning and the congregations of the several churches were greatly impressed with the earnestness of the preacher who stood before them. Below is given the church at which each minister preached, also the text he used:

Asheboro Street Baptist—Rev. J. W. Long: II Kings 7:17—The Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw; and behold the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire.

Centenary—Rev. Melton Clark: Isaiah 1:18—Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord.

Christian—Rev. R. G. Kendrick: James 2:23—And he was called the Friend of God.

Church of the Covenant—Rev. D. M. Litaker: Eph. 3:9—And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God who created all things by Jesus.

First Reformed—Rev. W. F. Staley: Ex. 2:20—And he said unto his daughters, and where is he? why is it that ye have left the man? call him that he may eat bread.

First Presbyterian—Rev. J. C. Turner: Rev. 21:5—And He that sat upon His throne said, behold I make all things new.

First Baptist—Rev. R. Murphy Williams: Heb. 11:13-14—These all died in faith, not having seen the promises, but having seen them afar off and were persuaded of them and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country.

First Lutheran—Rev. Stephen Myrick: Dan. 2:11—It is a rare thing that the King requireth.

Forest Avenue Baptist—Rev. T. J. Ogburn: 1 John 4:11—Beloved, if God so loved us.

Friends—Rev. L. E. Smith: II Kings 5:12—So he turned and went away in a rage.

Grace M. P.—Rev. C. E. Hodgin: Phil. 1:21—For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.

Spring Garden Methodist—Rev. Shuford Peeler: Deut. 33:27—The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms.

West Market Methodist—Rev. J. E. Shenk: Amos 4:2—Prepare to meet thy God.

Westminster Presbyterian—Rev. E. K. McLarty: Psalms 113:13—Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him.

MR. PEARSON IS VINDICATED

Has Been Done Grave Injustice.

His Permits For Shipment of Quail For Breeding Purposes Are the Same As Those That He Has Been Issuing For Years—Complete Explanation of Why the Permits Were Issued In Blank—No Quail Shipped As a Result of the Permits.

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 23, 1911.

Senator F. P. Hobgood, Senate Chambers, Raleigh, N. C.

My Dear Senator:

Having received various wires and letters from Mr. T. Gilbert Pearson, we are all of the opinion that Mr. Pearson in issuing permits for shipment of game out of the State of North Carolina, did so in good faith and had no idea that the permits issued would be misused. In justice to him, I beg that you will give this letter as much publicity as possible, as we would like to check any false impressions that may have been made in this matter upon the Legislature of North Carolina.

Regretting to trouble you, we are,

Sincerely yours,

J. F. JORDAN,

HENRY L. LEE.

The foregoing, sent to Senator Hobgood yesterday, will be read with pleasure by all the friends of Mr. Pearson as it bears out the theory that every one holds who knows him, namely, that he would not dream of conniving at a violation of the game laws or any other laws. The ascribing of improper motives to him is everywhere conceded to have been a grave injustice. All that he has done is something that he has been doing for years and the propriety of which has never before been questioned, that is, to issue a small number of permits for trapping a limited number of quail to be shipped north for propagation purposes.

A gentleman who had been investigating the matter told the Telegram last night that no birds had been caught under these permits and not one shipped!

The fact that the permits were drawn with the name of the person to receive it in blank was explained by the statement that Mr. Pearson didn't know who could be induced to take the trouble to trap the birds that were needed.

Under the law each permit had to be tacked on the crate of birds shipped and as only six permits were issued it is plain that only six crates of birds could have been shipped under the permits.

Mr. H. L. Lee, while he states that he would not for a moment impute improper motives to Mr. Pearson, nevertheless believes that Mr. Pearson has been imposed on and that the design of some one to use Mr. Pearson's permits to cloak the shipment of quail on a large scale has been demonstrated. A letter that he has written on the subject in reply to another letter, both of which are printed below, shows his position clearly:

Mr. Huntington to Mr. Lee.

"Dear Mr. Lee: I am informed that there is quite a "tempest in a teapot" over the attempt to procure a few live birds for the Game Breeders' Association to be used for scientific purposes. The Breeders' Association was formed for the scientific propagation of game.

"Article 1, Section 1, of this Constitution provides:

" 'The object of the association is to propagate game for scientific purposes including the study of the best methods of breeding game both wild in the fields and woods and in captivity and for sport.'

"At my request Prof. Pearson, representing the State Audubon Society, issued six permit cards to ship quail for propagation. These permits were not issued to me personally but were issued to the Game Breeders' Association. Prof. Pearson assured me it would be difficult matter to get any birds and I anticipated that we would have to get them from different counties and I instructed Mr. Fales who has the work in hand, to ship a few dozen on each permit if he could secure them. I told him the association could use from 10 to 20 dozen birds but that I would have to bring the matter before the board before I could tell him just how many we could use.

"The Association proposes to make experiments with wild turkeys, grouse, wild ducks and other game and is thoroughly responsible. I even told Prof. Pearson that the association, if it was successful, as I felt sure it would be, would be prepared to return birds to North Carolina and to distribute t to others. I feel quite sure when the objects of the association are understood that all sportsmen will favor and approve of what it is doing.

"Prof. Pearson issued only six permit cards permitting the shipping of birds and these permits were made out in blank since Prof. Pearson knows me well and I promised to report to him promptly the number of birds which we were able to secure, as he always publishes the number of birds shipped in his annual report. It seemed likely as I have said that we could not get the birds from one place and I would not desire to have many shipped in a crate or box at a time. You must observe that under no circumstances could a large number of birds be shipped on these few permits and I feel sure that you would have done as Prof. Pearson did if you held his position and I regret very much that there should have been any misunderstanding on the subject.

"I can assure you that if the association succeeds in demonstrating the methods by which the wild food birds can be increased in numbers, it will be highly beneficial to the people of North Carolina as well as to the sportsmen and farmers of other states.

"As you know I have long been studying the subject of the appalling decrease of our wild life and I am far more interested in the problem of showing how the game can be made abundant than I am in the shooting of it. I have long observed Prof. Pearson's work as a game protectionist and I am quite sure that he too, is sincerely and patriotically interested in the subject of the increase of our game birds as well as in the protection of the song and insectivorous birds.

"As I have said my instructions to Mr. Fales were that the Game Breeders' Association could use from 10 to 20 dozen birds on all the permits if we could possibly get them.

"I am told that an advertisement has been issued calling for 10,000 birds and I cannot imagine why this should be done unless possibly it was to attract attention to the fact that birds were wanted in the hopes of getting some replies. I certainly did not expect or believe it would be possible to procure over a few dozen birds after my first talk with Prof. Pearson.

"I hope you will take means to correct the false impression which seems to have gone abroad and I would suggest that you give this letter to all of the papers, which have published anything on the subject.

"Yours truly, Dwight Huntington."

Mr. Lee's Reply.

"My Dear Mr. Huntington:

"I have your favor of Jan. 21st. Your letter admits our contention that permits issued by the Audubon Society, for trapping and shipping birds out of North Carolina were in blank, so this point is disposed of. Now,

"First: We will prove by Mr. L. A. Andrew and others that your agent, Mr. Fales, arranged for the netting and trapping of quail in Guilford county, before he had in his possession any permits of any kind from the Audubon Society.

"Second: We will prove by L. A. Andrew and others, that Mr. Fales tried to make a contract with said L. A. Andrew for fifty dozen quail, these quail to be netted, trapped and shipped from Guilford county alone.

"Third: We will prove by Mr. T. G. Proctor and others, that Coe, Cobb Co. offered to buy 10,000 quail or as many as they could obtain at $4.00 per dozen to be shipped north under the direction of your agent, Mr. Fales.

"Your explanation of an advertisement in the local papers calling for 10,000 birds seems to me too ridiculous to need further comment.

"The sportsmen of Greensboro acting on this information, petitioned the legislature for relief and the result you know. I have affidavits and reliable witnesses who will swear to all the above facts.

"I am, Yours truly, H. L. Lee."

"LINK" PEEDEN KILLED BY TRAIN

Horrible Affair at Station Sunday.

Head Horribly Crushed and Entire Body Mangled Beyond Recognition—Engine of No. 46 Backing Into Roundhouse the Death Dealing Machine—Was About Rear End of McCorkle Building—Burial at Muir's Chapel Today.

A horrible accident occurred Sunday evening about 6:45 o'clock at the passenger station when U. L. Peeden, generally known as "Link" was struck and instantly killed by the engine of train No. 46 Charlotte to Greensboro.

No. 46 had come in at 6:30 and the engine at once uncoupled and pulled acros Elm street in order to get on the next track and back down to the turntable as usual after the run. The train was left standing on the second, or northbound, track until the passengers and baggage were unloaded, after which a switch engine took charge. It is supposed that Peeden was going down the track behind the train and as it was dark did not see, or hear the engine coming down the track. Engineer Creswell and Fireman Smith, who were in charge, state that they did not see the man, it being quite dark at the point the accident occurred, just about the rear end of the old McCorkle building,

The head was crushed into pulp and the body was badly mangled, both arms being cut entirely from the body. A letter in a vest pocket was the only means of identification.

Peeden was employed by Pitts & Monroe and his employers state that he was a good workman and was kind and considerate in dealing with his fellow employees. His one failing was a thirst for liquor and it is reported that he was in an intoxicated condition Sunday afternoon. Some are of the opinion that he was in this condition when struck by the engine and for this reason paid no attention to the approaching engine even if he heard it coming towards him.

The deceased was 49 years of age and is survived by several brothers and sisters, living in the country.

The remains were taken to the undertaking parlors of the Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company, and prepared for burial. This morning at 11 o'clock they will be taken to Muir's Chapel for interment.

HELD FOR COURT.

Israel S. Coble Bound Over To Court on Bigamy Charge—In Jail in Default of Bond.

Israel S. Coble, of Pomona, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice Collins on the charge of bigamy. He was held for court in a bond of $300, failing to give which he was committed to jail. Two wives were here to testify against the defendant, also a minister from Albemarle, who officiated at the third wedding of Coble's.

Coble has been married four times and two of his wives are supposed to be dead and he claimed yesterday that he supposed that his third wife was dead when he took unto himself a fourth bride. He admitted on the stand that he was not absolutely sure whether any of his wives were dead, inasmuch as one had turned up very much alive.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Makes Kidneys and Bladder Right

ALL PART OF THE JOB

Police Officer Meets Serious Accident With Cheerful Spirit.

New York World.

Policeman George Patteson lay on the sidewalk at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street yesterday afternoon with his left foot cut off and his right leg badly mangled. He had been hurled by one car under the wheels of another going in the opposite direction. Through the crowd that surrounded the policeman Deputy Commissioner Driscoll pushed his way.

"It's too bad, old man," said Driscoll, patting the shoulder of the injured policeman.

Another policeman was making a tourniquet of his own club and a silk scarf given to him by a news-stand woman, and Patteson watched the process with seeming interest. At the Commissioner's words he looked up. Then with a manifest effort he called a smile to his pallid features.

"It's all right, Commissioner," he said. "That's part of the job. We must expect such things in our business."

Then Patteson was hurried off to the New York Hospital in an automobile the police had commandered. Neither Driscoll nor Patteson knew at that time that the policeman's other leg probably would have to be amputated. When he heard of it at police headquarters last night Driscoll said that if Patteson lived his injury would make no different with his pay rating.

"We want cripples likt that in the department," said Mr. Driscoll. "If he comes out of the hospital with no legs at all he'll be kept at headquarters as a clerk and his pay will be that of a policeman."

Then Deputy Commissioner Driscoll in his automobile went to the hospital, where he told the policeman that he wasn't to worry about his future, but think only of getting well.

Patteson, who is 27 years old, was not the regular man on duty at the crossing. Policeman Glennon. who was assigned to direct the stream of traffic at that corner, had just gone to a telephone and Policeman Patteson had relieved him for a few minutes. An old man with his feeble wife had been standing for some moments on the north side of Forty-second street waiting for the traffic to be halted so that they could cross. Policeman Patteson escorted them across and then turned to go the north side of the street again.

As he did so an eastbound car struck him a glancing blow of sufficient force to throw him beneath the wheels of a Fort George car bound west. The wheels passed over his legs. The westbound car was stopped at once, but the eastbound car passed on, its motorman evidently not knowing of the accident.

Men ran to the policeman's assistance and women ran screaming the other way. Policeman Miller, who was nearby, helped a score of others carry the injured policeman to the sidewalk. Then he turned to the crowd and asked for a woman's scarf. Fashionably dressed women were hurrying by, but Lizzie Goldman, who keeps a news-stand nearby, pushed her way through the cluster of men.

"Here's what you want, and may it do the poor fellow good," she said, jerking with fingers that were not steady a silk scarf from her neck.

Then with the aid of the newswoman the loss of blood was checked. Policeman Glennon, whom Patteson had relieved, blamed himself bitterly for the accident.

"If I hadn't gone away and left him," said he. "He wasn't supposed to handle traffic. That was my job."

A Famous Miser.

John Elwes, who lived—we can hardly say flourished—in the eighteenth century, was a famous miser. When he, possessed of a million of money, walked the streets of London philanthropic people would sometimes thrust a penny into his hand, so beggarly and poverty stricken was his appearance. He would eat food that was in the last stage of putrefaction sooner than throw it away and would ride for miles out of his way sooner than pay a twopenny toll on the turnpike. By an accident in the street he received an injury to both his legs, and a doctor was called in. Elwes protested that the expense was quite unnecessary and that he was not much hurt. So he made an arrangement with the doctor. The doctor was to take one leg and treat as he liked. Elwes would take the other and do nothing to it. And he would bet the doctor the amount of his bill that the untended leg got well first. He used to boast afterward that he beat the doctor by a fortnight.

The Art of Boxing.

Pugilism, the practice of boxing or fighting with the fists, was a manly art and exercise highly esteemed among the ancients. In those days the hands of the pugilist were armed with the cestus, leather throngs loaded with lead or iron. This form of athletic sport was at first only permitted to freemen among the Greeks, but gradually it was taken up as a profession and lost much of its prestige.

As an illustration of its early use we find in Virgil's fifth Aeneid the record of a match between Dares, "with nimble feet and confident in youth," and Entelius, the veteran champion, "strong and weighty limbed," when the combatants—

Their arms uplift in air, their heads withdraw
Back from the blows, and, mingling hand with hand,
Provoke the conflict.

Pugilism has been a typical English sport from the days of King Alfred.—London Standard.

Convention of Stags.

Within the imperial preserves where the kaiser and his guests secured 500 deer in one day is the Schorfhaide, which each year toward the month of November becomes the meeting place of thousands of stags. This annual assemblage on the Schorfhaide has taken place every autumn for centuries past. Mention thereof has been found in documents more than a thousand years old. All sorts of theories have been put forward to account for it. Some natives say that the animals meet to decide matters affecting the leadership of their various clans. It seems hard to account otherwise for the attraction which brings stags and their mates from Galicia, on the Russian border; from the Liechtenstein game preserves south of Vienna and from the still larger estates in Hungary belonging to the Archduke Frederick, all the way to the Schorfhaide.—London Chronicle.

The Dialect Was There.

Ex-Governor Bob Taylor of Tennessee was once entertaining a northern guest who was rather skeptical about the prevailing dialect in stories of southern negroes. He thought it overdrawn. To disprove the contention, Mr. Taylor laughingly made a wager with his guest that the northerner would be unable to interpret the language of the first negro they met. Accordingly they set out and presently came upon a black man basking indolently in the sun. Telling his friend to pay close heed, Mr. Taylor stepped up to the negro and demanded suddenly:

"Weh he?"

The negro blinked his eyes stolidly and then answered in a guttural voice: "Wah who?"—Everybody's.

PHONES DAY 762. NIGHT 1442

Stage Snow.

In "Personal Reminiscences of Henry Irving" Bram Stoker lets his readers into the secret of how the snow scene in "The Corsican Brothers" was made so effective:

"All over the stage was a thick blanket of snow, white and glistening in the winter sunrise—snow that lay so thick that when the duelists, stripped and armed, stood face to face they each secured a firmer foothold by clearing it away. Of many wonderful effects this snow was perhaps the strongest and most impressive of reality. The public could never imagine how it was done. It was salt—common coarse salt—which was white in the appointed light and glistened like real snow. There were tons of it. A crowd of men stood ready in the wings with little baggage trucks such as are now used in the corridors of great hotels, silent with rubber wheels. On them were great wide mouthed sacks full of salt. When the signal came they rushed in on all sides, each to his appointed spot, and tumbled out his load, spreading it evenly with great wide bladed wooden shovels."

Tuning Bells.

"What a beautiful tone that bell has!" is often heard. There are few, however, who know how a bell receives its joyful or solemn tones. All bells after they are cast and finished must go through a process of tuning the same as any other musical instrument before they respond with a clear, true tone. Every bell sounds five notes, which must blend together in order to produce perfect harmony. The tuning of a bell is done by means of shaving thin bits from various parts of the metal. It is as easy for an expert bell tuner to put a bell in tune as it is for a piano tuner to adjust his instrument to perfect chords. At first thought it would seem that a bell would be ruined should a tuner shave off too much at the last tuning, or the fifth sound, but such is not the case. He would, however, be obliged to begin over, starting again with the first tone and shaving the bell till it gave forth its harmonious sound at the fifth tone.—Scientific American.

No Clock Wanted.

There had been some talk of placing a clock in the tower of the village church. But John, the old sexton, who lived in the little cottage opposite the church, declared himself "dead agin it" and expressed the opinion that it would mean "an awful waste o' brass" were the scheme carried out.

"We want no clocks," he said the other day. "We've done without clocks up to now, an' we shall manage. Why, lyin' i' my bed of a mornin' I can see the time by the sundial over the porch."

"Yes," replied one who approved of the scheme, "that's all right so far as it goes. But the sun doesn't shine every morning. What do you do then?"

"Why," answered John surprisedly, "I knows then as it ain't fit weather to be out o' bed, an' I just stops where I is."—London Tit-Bits.

The Lavish Jenkins.

In October, 1886, a religiously minded Buckinghamshire farmer named Jenkins brought his firstborn to the parish church to be christened, and this was to be the name: Abel Benjamin Caleb Daniel Ezra Felix Gabriel Haggai Isaac Jacob Kish Levi Manoah Nehemiah Obdiah Peter Quartus Rechab Samuel Tobiah Uzziel Vaniah Word Xystus Zechariah. It will be observed that the names are all arranged in alphabetical order and are as far as possible selected from Scripture. It was only with the very greatest difficulty that the clergyman dissuaded Mr. Jenkins from doing the lasting wrong to his child that he had unwittingly devised, but eventually it was decided to christen the boy simply Abel.—Chambers' Journal.

Where Plato Taught.

The famous academy of Plato was in a suburb of Athens, about a mile north of the Dypilum gate. It is said to have belonged to the hero Academus; hence the name. It was surrounded with a wall and adorned with walks, groves and fountains. Plato possessed a small estate in the neighborhood and for some fifty years taught his "divine philosophy" to young and old assembled in the academy to listen to his wise words. After Plato's death in 348 B. C. the academy lost much of its fame, but the beauty remained for centuries after the great teacher was no more.—New York American.

Poet Laureate.

The office of poet laureate practically begins with Chaucer, who assumed the title about 1385. After Chaucer the office was more or less in the shadow, but from Spenser in 1599 the line of poet laureate is pretty well filled down to the present time. The office is largely honorary and has not always been held by the greatest of English poets. Dryden, Wordsworth and Tennyson being the most illustrious of its holders.—Exchange.

His Own Valuation.

"Belle tells me she is sorry she ever married you," said a young lady to the husband of her dearest friend.

"So she ought to be," he retorted. "She did some nice girl out of a good husband!"

Unhappiness.

They who have never known prosperity can hardly be said to be unhappy. It is from the remembrance of joys we have lost that the arrows of affliction are pointed.—Emile Zola.

It will never rain roses. If we want more roses we must plant more trees.

The gypsies may be a menace as a type or class, but they have served Wadesboro effectively by keeping her name at top of column, first page.

It seems to be agreed in Wall Street that the heads of the big corporations will henceforth have to shift as best they can on an average salary of $50,000 per year. But this is no indication that the brain market is overstocked.

North Carolina is going to have a state house worthy of the pride and dignity of this great and growing commonwealth. A million dollar building of such architectural beauty as will be the new capitol will be a little lonesome in Raleigh, but, then, the state needs both; and to build the capitol elsewhere would be to lose Raleigh.

Senator Lemmond's bill, introduced Saturday to prevent crushing out gas and electric companies by means of rate cutting is good, but the clause which prevents the subsequent advancement of rates cut under those of competitors ought to be permanently effective in preventing general trust aggrandizement, without any other legislation. When a concern learns that a cut rate can never thereafter be increased, the end of the trusts would seem to be assured.

New York is to have an office building which will put the Singer building and the Metropolitan tower in a situation of humility. No one can tell where all this competitive enterprise will end, but it would seem about time for the building inspectors or the fire department or some interested authority to urge an investigation of the relative strength of the alleged rock-ribbed island which is to be the foundation and support for such a mass of stone as is being piled up on its narrow surface.

The committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions, after an exhaustive and thorough examination into the respective merits of San Francisco and New Orleans as appropriate cities for the holding of the Panama Exposition, has reported in favor of New Orleans. This is as it should be. San Francisco is too far away, and has no more claim to consideration as a suitable point for the Exposition than has Baltimore or Philadelphia, or even Charleston. However, she is to be congratulated for her showing and admired for her energy and pluck. The House should lose no time in passing upon the report as presented by the committee in favor of New Orleans.

THE CHILD AND THE DOLLAR.

Representative Battle, of Wake Forest, on Saturday introduced a bill in the Legislature to raise the age limit for children working in factories to fourteen years. If this bill could be passed, it would mean more to the State in the matter of education, State pride, prestige, and exemplary leadership than anything that has been accomplished in a long time, to say nothing of our debt to the children and of the future greatness of the state, which will be in proportion to the training and character of the boys and girls of tomorrow.

The question that will be decided as a result of the presentation of this bill will be, Are we indebted more to the children and to posterity than to investors of capital? The measure may not pass at this session, but it is good that it shall be discussed, for everywhere men are beginning to pause when is heard the voice of a child, whose cry shall not always be lost in the groaning of the wheel and the clink of gold.

The time for the election on the commission form of government is only two weeks in the future. So the voters from now on will be revolving in their minds the problem of whether to vote for or against the proposed innovation. We hope the election will be carried for the change, believing that the advocates of the commission form of government have demonstrated that it will be a substantial improvement over the old plan that has been followed for so long and that is now being followed in the vast majority of the cities of this country. It ought to be possible to get three live men for Commissioners and with three such men devoting their whole time to the city's interests those interests, it stands to reason, should be better advanced than they can be by men who meet only occasionally and whose best thought has of course to be given to their own affairs. As we have said, the arguments of those who favor the change appear convincing. The arguments of those who oppose the change have not been aired to a very noticeable degree and their promulgation are being awaited with interest.

THE PROGRESS OF AVIATION.

Sunday in San Francisco Phillip Parmalee remained in the air with a Wright biplane for a little more than three and one-half hours, thus breaking all former records for endurance. He said he could have stayed aloft longer, but grew tired and cold and decided to come down.

With such a record as Parmalee's and that of A. L. Welsh, of St. Louis, who fell short of Parmalee's time by only 27 minutes and a few seconds, there remain only two difficulties in the way of bringing the aeroplane into successful service as a common carrier; namely, an engine too light and hence too weak to be reliable, and a machine too fragile to go up against strong winds. These defects are, however, being rapidly overcome, and already a company announces that it is to build a machine heavy enough for safety and one that will at the same time be sufficiently speedy for all such as enjoy the pleasure and exhileration of riding above the clouds. The new flyer is to be propelled by a 100-horse-power engine and will contain four seats as comfortable as those of an automobile, which are to be protected from the cold winds. It is to be ready by the time summer comes again, and maybe when the next fair opens in October we shall see the railroads issuing round trip tickets with fair ground tickets and aeroplane coupons attached.

Political Animosities.

Political animosities today are seldom carried into private life. In the past just the opposite was the rule. "Coke of Norfolk" once stated that when he was a child his grandfather took him on his knee and said, "Now, remember, Tom, as long as you live never trust a Tory," and he used to add, "I never have, and, by George, I never will." G. W. E. Russell, too, tells of an eccentric maiden lady whom he knew in his youth who, having spent her life in the innermost circles of aristocratic Whiggery, always refused to enter a cab until she had extorted from the driver an assurance that he had never carried cases of infectious disease, that he was not a Puseyite and that he was a Whig.—London Graphic.

Tommy—"Pop, what is a scale of prices?" Tommy's Pop—"A scale of prices, my son, is something that registers just about twice as much as the scale of weighing."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was ssupposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

What's In a Name?

The late king of Siam had for a full name Phra Bat Somdeth Phra Paraminor Maha Chulalongkorn Phra Chula Chum Klo Chow Yu Hua, and this does not include his titles. A wag in Bombay saw it in the paper when the ruler was visiting that city and was being received by the British officials and passed it over to a young Irish subaltern with the challenge that he pronounce it. The young fellow looked at it a moment and then handed it back. He said he was not long enough winded, but he was sure he could play it on the garrison club piano if the instrument were a couple of octaves longer. The king's uncle, however, who was also a prince high priest, had for one name alone the following collection of letters: Pawaratsawariyalongkaun. Any one who can get through this and not flat one of the notes has lived a long time where he can look out of the window and see the gilded peak of a temple shimmering in the equatorial sun.—Christian Herald.

Starve a Cold.

Nature, as a rule, takes the appetite away when one is coming down with a cold or other infectious disease, and nature is wise. Don't coax Mary to eat when she has a cold. Don't allow the neighbors to tempt Johnny with calf's foot jelly or other dainties. When suffering from a cold the digestive organs are in no condition to care for food. The digestive juices are altered or entirely absent. One or two days' comparative fast will often assist in averting a severe siege of cold. A more convenient and enjoyable form of fasting would be to subsist for one or two days upon fruit or fruit juices perhaps, with the addition of a little toast. An exclusive fruit diet has all the practical advantages of complete fasting, while it satisfies the appetite and supplies sugar from which the liver can manufacture glycogen to sustain the white blood corpuscles in their continuous warfare against microbes.—William S. Sadler in Designer.

Giving Him Carte Blanche.

A few years ago John Kendrick Bangs, the humorist, told a number of his Broadway literary confreres that he felt particularly elated over an order he had just received from Henry W. Savage, the theatrical producer, for the libretto of a musical comedy. The play was produced a few months later. During the long period of rehearsals so much of Bangs' material was eliminated and so much other material inserted in its stead that when the curtain went up on the first night not more than half a dozen of the original lines remained.

About a week later a friend, meeting Bangs, asked him if he was writing any more plays for Savage.

"Yes," replied Bangs. "Only an hour ago I sent him 500 blank sheets of paper and told him to go as far as he liked."—Irvin Cobb in New York Tribune.

Anthony Trollope's First Earnings.

A literary man recalls Anthony Trollope's little gloat over the first fruits of his pen. "I send you a copy of 'The Warden,'" he wrote to Lord Houghton in 1866, "which Mr. Longman assures me is the last of the first edition. There were, I think, only 750 printed, and they have been over ten years in hand. But I regard the book with affection, as I made £9 2s. 6d. by the first year's sales, having previously written and published for ten years without any such golden result. Since then I have improved even upon that." Trollope, of course, "improved upon that" in no uncertain fashion.—Westminster Gazette.

It Was Real.

"My, this must have been exciting!" says Mrs. Bilmers, who is reading the paper. "A twenty foot boa constrictor escaped from the zoo yesterday and was captured after it had climbed halfway up a telegraph pole."

"And I swore off when I saw it as I went downtown!" growled Mr. Bilmers disgustedly.

"What are you muttering?" she asked.

"Nothing. I just said it must have been a ticklish job."—Chicago Post.

At One Hundred and First street and Broadway a man was talking into a telephone. Presently he was heard to say: "All right. I'll come. I am now at Twenty-third street and Broadway. I'll be up in about half an hour."

"He knows where he is all right," said a drug clerk. "He's just putting up a bluff. It is quite a common bluff. Men who have a mighty high regard for truth at all other times do not hesitate to tell a whopper about where they are when talking over the telephone. I have heard persons swear over that wire that they were telephoning from points all the way from Hoboken to Amityville. They were not seasoned liars, either; just wanted a few minutes' grace apparently and thought the easiest way to get it was to make out they were a mile or two farther away than they really were."—New York Press.

THE LIBRARY AND SOUTHERN HISTORY

Confederate Collection Includes Number of Rare Volumes—In Demand and Especially by Confederate Veterans.

Prepared For The Telegram.

The month of January has just brought to us once more the honored anniversary of General Robert E. Lee the great and dearly beloved leader of the Confederate Army and thousands of hearts throughout our land unite on this day in reverent and grateful memory, not for the Chief alone, but for all brave men who wore the gray and gave up their lives at the call of the South.

We have learned long since to expect leadership in this tribute of affection from the United Daughters of the Confederacy and well may we look for guidance to such a sisterhood which keeps in every Southern State its loving watch and ward both for the quick and the dead.

The memorial service in Greensboro this year has been of unusual interest; the Guilford Chapter generously presenting at this time a portrait of General Lee to the Children's Room of the Greensboro Public Library. From the walls of this room, dedicated to the service of childhood in our city, and close beside the portraits of the stately Washington and faithful Wiley his noble face will now look down upon the boys and girls from Greensboro homes a daily token of interest in their welfare by our Daughters of the Confereacy, a daily inspiration from a life typical of all that is bravest and best in American manhood.

During the eight years of the library's existence the life of Lee has always been its most popular biography, and Lee's birthday has always found the "stars and bars" displayed in his honor upon its walls. The Confederate collection of the library has been greatly enhanced in value by a gift some three years ago for the purchase of especially rare volumes and is now a possession which a much larger institution might well be proud to own. Scholars from other sections frequently express their pleased surprise in finding such a collection in a library of very recent growth.

Confederate Veterans greatly enjoy the books of this department and it is a privilege to hear their ready reminiscences and note their pleasure especially in the Regimental History and the N. C. Confederate Roster, both welcome gifts of the State.

Union soldiers too sometimes visit this collection and never fail in any case to express hearty appreciation for the honor here accorded the heroic followers of Lee and Jackson. One such visitor recently hunted eagerly in these histories to find a record of the Confederate General who captured him in our own State. He gazed with kindling face at the library copy of that familiar and tender memorial "The Man in Gray," and, as he turned to go, said "I have lived many years where my work now lies in a large city of the West, but if the choice were mine I would spend the rest of my days in a town like yours where the people honor each other and where they honor and cherish the brave deeds of those who have gone before." So shall brave men ever honor courage and the tribute to courage in every land.

"He is marching away, the Man in Gray.
But Glory keeps step by his side;
When he rests above in the tents of love
May his spirit with us abide!"

Same Old Story.

"Does he pay his alimony promptly?"

"No. He has to be urged and threatened every pay day; but, then, of course, I got used to that when we were living together."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SLIMS WIN AGAIN.

Beat Picked Team Last Night by Majority of a Hundred and Twenty Pins.

At the Gem Bowling Alley last night the "Slims" defeated the "Picked Team" for the second time, winning the series last night by a majority of 120 pins. The way the boys sent the balls rolling down the alley was a sight and called forth much cheering from the spectators. Especially were the Slims cheered in the second game when Knight totaled 206 pins, one of the highest scores made in Greensboro in some time. The boys are getting in good practice and are continually improving as the scores will show. They will soon be in a position to issue a challenge to outsiders if the improvement keeps up.

The score for last night follows:

Parnell.

I never saw a braver man than Parnell. The story of his downfall is one of the most pathetic in history. There is a rumor that Captain O'Shea said to Gambetta: "What are we going to do with Parnell? He is getting to be a great danger to the country." And Gambetta replied, "Set a woman on his track." And the woman, instead of betraying him, fell in love with this patriot, and that was his undoing.—"Recollections of Mrs. T. P. O'Connor."

To Discourage Him.

"George," said her husband's wife, "I don't believe you have smoked one of those cigars I gave you on your birthday."

"That's right, my dear," replied his wife's husband. "I'm going to keep them until our Willie wants to learn to smoke."—Chicago News.

CURES PIMPLES QUICKLY

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past Howard Gardner has done the biggest business he ever had in any one article in selling Hokara, the skin food that has won so many friends in Greensboro.

It has been found to be an absolute cure not only for all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but for the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic ezcema and salt rheum.

In spite of its unusual curative power, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, Howard Gardner will sell a liberal sized jar for 25c.; larger sized 50c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

TESTIMONIAL.

I wish to state for the benefit of anyone suffering from eczema, that I had eczema on my hand for some time and could find nothing that would cure it until I used Hokara. One 25c jar entirely cured me. Wm. Nichols, 621 1-2 Central Ave., Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

Look For the Hose With This Mark on the Toes

There are many kinds of guaranteed hosiery but they are all imitations of the original "Holeproof."

When your husband goes out to buy sox, tell him to insist on "Holeproof"—tell him to look on the toes for our trademark.

This means more than you think—it means that if any holes appear within six months we give you new hosiery free.

But that is not all, the hosiery itself is more stylish and comfortable than any other on the market.

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The makers use only the finest and softest cotton from Egypt and the Sea Islands. They pay 63 cents a pound, but could buy ordinary cotton at 12 cents a pound.

The yarn is three-ply in the body and doubled to six-ply in the heels, toes and knees. Common hosiery is made of two-ply yarn throughout yet it costs you as much as "Holeproof."

Comfort is supreme in "Holeproof"—the fabric is as soft and smooth as silk. Style is increased for the hosiery is shaped to fit the ankle like a glove fits the hand.

Men's hose come in eleven attractive colors and women's in six. Price $1.50 to $3 a box of six pairs. Children's hose, in black and tan, at $2 a box of six pairs. Please come in and see this hosiery today—it costs no more than the ordinary.

LORD DECIES SHOPPING.

English Nobleman and Fiancee Visit Fifth Avenue Shops.

New York Press.

Lord Decies and his fiancee, Vivian Gould, went shoppinfg yesterday. They visited various shops in Fifth avenue, making purchases and getting ready for their wedding on February 7 next They were accompanied by Mrs. George J. Gould, mother of the girl. The three enjoyed the shopping expedition as a sort of lark. They stopped at a millinery establishment, went next to a dry goods house and visited several jewelry stores. The trio attracted much interest, for Miss Gould has just made her debut and is somewhat of a novelty in New York society, while Lord Decies is practically a stranger in New York.

Miss Gould was dressed in a fur coat and a fur turban. Lord Decies seemed in a jovial mood and was extremely attentive both to his fiancee and her mother. In the jewelry store the three looked at bracelets and tiaras. Then they were escorted to rooms on the upper floor, where, it is said, they saw costly gems that are not displayed in the showcases.

Solves a Deep Mystery.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Making a Major.

John Esten Cooke, who went into the war as an enlisted man in a Richmond battery, was soon afterward appointed an officer on the staff of General J. E. B. Stuart. On Stuart's staff, Mr. George Cary Eggleston says in "Recollections of a Varied Life," he distinguished himself by a certain laughing nonchalance under fire and by his eager readiness to undertake Stuart's most perilous missions.

It was in recognition of some specially daring service of that kind that Stuart gave him his promotion. The delightful way in which the great boyish southerner did it is best told in Mr. Eggleston's own words.

"You're about my size, Cooke," Stuart said, "but you're not so broad in the chest."

"Yes, I am," answered Cooke.

"Let's see if you are," said Stuart, taking off his coat as if for a boxing match. "Try that on."

Cooke donned the coat with its three stars on the collar and found it a fit.

"Cut off two of the stars," Stuart commanded, "and wear the coat to Richmond. Tell the people in the war department to make you a major and send you back to me in a hurry. I'll need you tomorrow."

How It Feels to Be Run Over.

"When I was run over," writes a correspondent, "I had not seen the car approaching. The first thing I knew was that I was on the ground, kicking upward with my legs in an effort to get from under the car. Then I felt a wheel going over my chest, which bent as it passed over. In the intervening second or two I went through several minutes' worth of feelings. I had the sensations of astonishment at being on the ground, of wanting to roll aside and away, of bracing myself—and my chest especially—stiff to resist something, whatever it might be, while a lightning flash of fear was dimly there and a subconscious query, 'What on earth next?' Yet it was hardly fear, because there was no time for such a durable sensation. It was rather a sense of being suddenly confronted with a grave reality, of doubtful, obscurely terrible import." —London Chronicle.

Origin of Coal.

Coal is of vegetable origin. When vegetable matter accumulates under water it undergoes a slow process of decomposition, giving off its nitrogen, hydrogen, oxygen and some carbon, the result of which if carried far enough is the formation of a mass of carbon. Peat, found often in swampy tracts, is the first stage in the coal forming process, and the further stages are formed by the burial of these vegetable deposits under great loads of sediment, where they become subject to pressure and sometimes to heat. This effects a series of changes, consolidation and loss of oxygen and gives a series of products whose nature depends on the degree to which the original vegetable matter has been changed. The products are known as lignite, bituminous coal and anthracite coal.

Mixing His Dates.

There is a story of a man who was so transported with joy as he stood up at the altar rail to be married that his thoughts reverted to a day when he stood up at the prisoner's bar in a court of justice to plead "guilty" or "not guilty" to a criminal charge. So powerfully did that, the most painful event of his life, obtrude itself upon his mind that when the clergyman put the question, "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" and so on, the poor distracted bridegroom answered with startling distinctness, "Not guilty, so help me!"—From Tuckerman's "Personal Recollections."

BEAT HIM TO THE STATION.

The Message That Got There Before the Patrolman Did.

"When I was a patrolman," says a prominent detective, "there used to be a sergeant on the force who had it in for me. He reported me for various delinquencies, and—well, he's dead now, and I won't say anything against him. He got sick, and it was reported at the station that he wasn't expected to live. So the boss called me and told me to go around and see if I could do anything for the old fellow. I called at the house and asked if I could see him. They let me in. I tiptoed into the room where the sergeant was in bed and said, 'The lieutenant sent me around to see how you were getting along.'

"He spoke with difficulty, but I could make out what he said. 'Go back,' he grunted, 'and tell 'em that I'm getting along fine. The boys have fixed me up all right, and I don't need anything. I'm feeling better.'

"So I went back to the station. I was stopped a couple of times on my way and got in about half an hour later. Then I made my report. 'He says he's better and doesn't need anything,' says I. The lieutenant jumped up. 'Do you mean to say that you saw him?' says he. 'I did,' says I. 'And he told you he was all right?' 'Yes, sir.' 'You blamed liar!' shouts the lieutenant. 'I got a message ten minutes ago that he was dead!'

"And it was true. What do you think of that old scoundrel trying to get me in bad with his dying breath?" —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Facts About Animal Structure.

The complexity of animal structure is marvelous. A caterpillar contains more than 2,000 muscles. In a human body are some 2,000,000 perspiration glands, communicating with the surface by ducts, having a total length of some ten miles, while that of the arteries, veins and capillaries must be very great. The blood contains millions of corpuscles, each a structure in itself. The rods in the retina, which are supposed to be the ultimate recipients of light, are estimated at 30,000,000, and Meinert has calculated that the gray matter of the brain is built of at least 600,000,000 cells.

LIGHTING BY GAS.

It Was a Costly Process When It Was First Established.

The first incorporated gas company was the National Light and Heat Company of England, established in 1809. In America the first gas company was incorporated in Baltimore in 1816, the second one in Boston in 1822, and the next one was the New York Gaslight company, incorporated in 1823.

Prior to 1830 the gas business of this country was nominal, but the price probably was responsible for its slow development. From 1824 to 1828, says Moody's Magazine, the New York Gaslight company sold gas to consumers at the rate of $10 a thousand cubic feet.

The first artificial illuminating gas was produced in England about 1726 by one Dr. Hales, but not until 1786 was a practical test made. In that year the Earl of Dundonald of Scotland arranged an apparatus by which he lighted his castle with gas. The same year William Murdock of Birmingham, England, introduced gas as a light in his workshops at Redruth and Cornwall.

As Mr. Murdock was the first man to reap any commercial benefit from the discovery of the use of illuminating gas, he may properly be accredited as the father of modern public utilities. In 1813 London bridge was illuminated by gas, and five years later gas was in general use throughout the main part of London.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE

Is a valuable friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfils this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.

Perhaps the reason marriage is so often a failure is because the woman never marries the man.

Death in Roaring Fire

may not result from the work of fire bugs, but often severe burns are caused that make a quick need for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the quickest, surest cure for burns, wounds, bruises, boils, sores. It subdues inflammation. It kills pain. It soothes and heals. Drives off skin eruptions, ulcers, piles. Only 25c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

MEDICAL RESEARCH.

Romance of the Discovery of the Cause of Malaria.

In the history of research are many romances. Of the discovery that malaria was caused by mosquitoes, it is related how Dr. Low and Dr. Sambon lived in the malarious Roman Campagna without quinine. They retired at sunset to a mosquito proof hut, with double doors and windows of wire net, and they did not leave until sunrise. The fact that they remained immune, while the attendants, sleeping outside, contracted malaria, confirmed the belief that the mosquitoes were responsible.

But how did they carry the disease? At first it was thought to be by water. To settle the question live mosquitoes which had bitten infected peasants were sent home and two members of the school submitted to be bitten by them. They both went down with malaria. Again, how did the mosquitoes transmit the germ?

By cutting sections of the proboscis the malarious parasite was found. It breaks through the skin of the proboscis and is transmitted at the time of the sting. From the first conjecture to the final proof was a series of careful experiments, ending with the slicing of the mosquito's proboscis. Now, this is finer than fine hair. It is necessary to stop to think. For it is easier to imagine the triumph of the proof than the delicate operation that produced it.—London Standard.

First Aid.

"My books are in very bad shape," said the high financier.

"Shall I send for an expert accountant?" inquired the confidential man.

"No. Send for an alienist."—Washington Star.

Old Soldier Tortured.

"For years I sufferd unspeakable torture from indigestion, constipation and liver trouble," wrote A. K. Smith, a war veteran at Erie, Pa., "but Dr. Kings' New Life Pills fixed me all right. They are simply great." Try them for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Only 25c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

A Lazy Man.

A worthy old citizen of Newport who had the reputation of being the laziest man alive among "them hillocks," so lazy, indeed, that he used to weed his garden in a rocking chair by rocking forward to take hold of the weed and backward to uproot it, had a way of fishing peculiarly his own. He used to drive his old white faced mare to the spot where the tautog (blackfish) might be depended on for any weight, from two to twelve pounds, backed his gig down to the water side, put out his line and when the tautog was safely hooked started the old mare and pulled him out.

A Slight Difference.

Undue rapidity of speech or indistinct utterance often leads to curious misunderstandings. An instance of this is given by Walter Seymour in his "Ups and Downs of a Wandering Life." "A clergyman," he says, "was sent for by a sick old parishioner who was not a churchgoer and who was deaf. The clergyman said: 'What induced you to send for me?' 'What does he say?' said the man to his wife. 'He says why the deuce did you send for him?'"

A Patron.

"Mr. Carriman is very busy now," said the private secretary of the railroad president. "Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Oh," replied the pompous visitor, "just a friendly call. I thought he'd like to know that I ride on his suburban branch now. I'm Colonel Nutritch."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Similarity.

"What a noisy thing that bass drum is!" remarked the clarinet disgustedly.

"Yes," replied the trombone; "just like a human being, isn't it?"

"Like a human being?"

"Yes; it's the one with the big head that makes the most noise."—London Telegraph.

Shaking Hands.

Few people know how to shake hands well. The general run of folk either give a limp paw and allow it to be shaken or else grasp yours in theirs and nearly dislocate it with their violence.—London World.

The wise are polite all the world over; fools are polite only at home.—Bacon.

Saves Two Lives.

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery," writes A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C., R. F. D. No 8, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough,—all bronchial troubles,—its supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

The Preparation of Parchment.

Parchment is the skin of sheep or other animals prepared in sheets to render them fit for being written upon. The heavier parchment, used for drumheads, is made from the skins of asses, older calves, wolves and goats. All these are similarly prepared. The skin, being freed from the hair, is placed in a lime pit to cleanse it from fat. The pelt is then stretched upon a frame, care being taken that the surface is free from wrinkles. The flesh is pared off with a circular knife, after which it is moistened, and whiting spread over it. Then the workman, with a large pumice stone, rubs the skin. He next goes over it with an iron instrument and rubs it carefully with pumice stone without chalk. Finally the skin is gradually dried, tightening being occasionally required.

A Fast Express.

The slow train is still the target for the shafts of the humorist. Recently an English wag sent the following letter to the editor of his local paper: "Sir, is there no way to put a stop to begging along the line of the railway? For instance, yesterday an aged mendicant with a wooden leg kept pace with the afternoon express all the way from Blankton to Spaceley and annoyed the passengers exceedingly, going from one open window to another with his importuneate solicitations."

Prince Henry, the Navigator.

The kingdom of Portugal counted in its royal house one of the men who hold first rank in scientific attainment and practical application. He was the son of John I. of Portugal and Queen Philippa (who was an English princess); he spent his life in sending out ships on voyages of discovery, and it was through this Prince Henry, called "the Navigator," that Columbus got his idea of seeking for a new land across the sea.

Foley's Kidney Remedy-An Appreciation

L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Howard Gardner.

An Unusual Blend.

Mrs. Dorkins sniffed the air.

"John," she said, "that smells like a new kind of tobacco."

"You smell forty different kinds of tobacco, Maria," explained Mr. Dorkins; "I burnt a hole in my smoking jacket just now."—Chicago Tribune.

Home protection is true wisdom. Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve ought to be in every home for its quick relief and prevention of two dangerous diseases and the more common ailments such as Colds, Catarrh, Burns and Chaps.

Not Always Desirable.

"Shall we advertise for a man with experience?"

"Well, I don't know. The last man had so much experience that we could not teach him anything."—Pittsburg Post.

KAISER'S SWEET SMILE.

Berlin Cor. N. Y. American.

The Kaiser had added one more to the thousands of portraits of himself and the royal family which he has showered upon Germany. All of these are what are known to the trade as "goodsellers," but this latest picture outstrips in popularity anything that has preceded it.

It is a photograph of the Kaiser holding his eldest grandson clasped in his arms, and is altogether charming and unaffected. The little lad, who, if spared, will one day be the Emperor of Germany, is snuggled up to his grandfather, and the imperial grandfather is looking affectionately at his grandson.

The Kaiser, of course, never forgets when posing before the camera that he is the War Lord, but in this particular picture the military element is subdued. The Emperor wears a fatigue uniform of gray khaki, with only two or three orders as decorations.

One point of interest about the young Prince Wilhelm which Americans do not always remember is that the youngster's birthday falls on July 4.

LOOK FOR THE BEE HIVE

Custom in Spain.

One thing specially is vital in Spain: "Costumbre," they say ("It is the custom"). It explains commercial honor tersely for the Spanish business man to keep his word and pay his bills; exactly as it is equally customary for him to lack what we call "honor" in some other departments of life. It is customary to do or not to do, to like or not to like, a thousand things. Why? "Custombre" is the only reply. It is customary, moreover, not to yield readily to an improvement or a luxury, even as it is again equally customary, once the Spaniard has yielded to a given thing, to hold to it like adamant. —Arthur Stanley Riggs in Century.

His Preference.

"You can get an armful of daisies for a dime," pointed out the optimist, "and just look at their bright, merry little faces!"

"What do I want with an armful of daisies?" growled the pessimist. "I'd rather have a cheese sandwich."—New York Journal.

A Snake Tale.

A man took his small son to the park. They fed bread to the swans and then stood for a long time in front of a cage of serpents. The boy looked at them with fascinated eyes. At last he exclaimed, "I like these tails all right, but where are the animals?"—Lippincott's.

Probably.

INDIGESTION.

An Intresting Statement.

Portland, Me.—"I suffered so long with indigestion and stomach trouble that I lost flesh rapidly—I had used all kinds of remedies without help. Vinol was recommended and I decided to try it.

"I soon commenced to feel better, my stomach trouble disappeared and I can eat heartily without the slightest distress. My experience leads me to believe that no other medicine equals Vinol for stomach troubles and indigestion. It tones up the stomach increases the appetite and creates strength." W. E. Waterhouse. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, overtaxed and weakened nerves of the digestive organs, and remove the cause of indigestion and soon enables the sufferer to digest with ease the foods that once caused distress. Moreover Vinol is delicious to the taste, contains no oil and does not upset weak stomachs, as do old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

What He Heard.

John is his name, and he lives in Newburg. Further personal details are not necessary. Now, John has a wife who is not as charitable as she might be, and she has a woman friend who has domestic troubles of her own and therefore can and does sympathize with John's wife. Just what time it was when John came in the other morning deponent knoweth not, but certainly it was no sort of time for a married man to be getting home, and his wife told him so, though he knew it perfectly well without being told.

Next morning after John had gone to his office his wife called up the other woman on the telephone and told about John. The other woman was all sympathy, and what the two had to say about the kind of husband John was was more than plenty. In the thick of it a friend of John's got on the wire—not intentionally, of course, for he thought John was a model, but he got there, and it sounded good enough to him to stay and listen. But not for long. Presently he coughed, and there was a sudden silence.

"Who's that?" inquired John's wife.

The Waste of the Wind.

Every one who wants a cheap motive force has tried to harness the wind. Every child has made a paper propeller or a windmill. But can it be said that the possible uses of the wind have been as arduously investigated as such recently discovered forces as steam and electricity and gases? Is it not conceivable that the practical uses of the wind are underestimated just because they are so familiar?

We cannot help thinking that the wind will be more variously employed some day in the same way that probably the problem of laying under contribution the great physical fact of the tides will be solved. One would think that the wind could be used for electric lighting, yet there is no practical apparatus for the purpose. True, the wind is variable and occasionally absent, but as electricity can be stored one might suppose that this was the very case in which variability did not particularly matter.—London Spectator.

The Clever Shoe Clerk.

At the cost of considerable time and labor one high grade shoe house is bound to protect its goods. On a rainy day a woman wearing wet shoes went in to buy rubbers. The clerk measured the width and length of her shoes, removed them and brought a new pair of the same size to try on. Visions of a depleted pocketbook caused her to exclaim, "But I don't want new shoes, only rubbers!"

"I understand," said the clerk. "I am only slipping these shoes on to fit the rubbers over. It soils the inside of a rubber to slip it on over a wet shoe. Then if it doesn't fit and the customer doesn't take it it is spoiled for the next customer."

"And the outcome of that experience was," said the woman, "that I bought the shoes as well as the rubbers and had them sent home C. O. D. Maybe that was what he was working for all the time."—New York Sun.

Oddest of Queer Fishes.

A queer fish that does not swim is the "sargasso fish," known to sailors as the "frogfish." It lives in that vast mass of floating gulfweed called the Sargasso sea, in mid-Atlantic.

Its pectoral fins are so modified and developed as to resemble arms, and it uses them for clinging to the weed. Very gaudily colored, it changes its hues to match the aquatic vegetation by which it is surrounded, and when the latter decays and turns brown it assumes a corresponding shade.

The fish lays its eggs in a jelly-like mass, which, absorbing a great quantity of water, becomes three times as big as the mother fish herself, assuming the form of a narrow raft three or four feet long and two to four inches wide.—New York World.

Delicately Formed

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.

The genuine, always bearing the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., may be purchased from all leading druggists in original packages of one size only, price fifty cents per bottle.
